Linking Power, Technology, and Solutions to the Energy Market

Welcome to Nexus Power!

We are proud to introduce you to the merger of two highly respected manufacturers representative companies.

For the past four decades Electrical Marketing Solutions (EMS) and Control Technology Company (CTC) have been providing sales and engineering support to the western United States behalf of our manufacturing partners. Over the last few years these two great companies partnered together on specific projects and markets and realized fantastic synergy working together. We took that to the next step in April of 2022 and merged to form Nexus Power!

Our belief is that each market is best supported by combining a highly professional inside support structure with a local sales team having decision-making power and technical expertise. This model has been integral to each of our separate organization's success and is the model we will continue to follow going forward. Thank you for your support of Nexus Power.
